Additional Transfer Requirements
- The Department of Educational Administration and Human Development is looking for students who are interested in pursuing our degree as a focus. Students should indicate our department as the primary major they are interested in if they wish to be admitted. The essay and supporting materials should reflect that the student is interested in pursuing our degree.
- Meeting minimum requirements does not guarantee admission. The entire record is reviewed for consistency in coursework and grades.

Additional Information
- Applicants should be serious about earning a degree in Human Resource Development.
- Transfer applicants are instructed NOT to accept transfer admission to any major with the expectation of later applying for an on-campus change of major.

Career & Educational Opportunities
Human Resource Development (HRD) is the process of improving learning and performance in individual, group, and organizational contexts through domains of expertise such as lifelong learning, career development, training and development, and organization development. This degree is designed to provide the knowledge and skills to succeed in a variety of roles in HRD for business, industry, and education. This major also includes a strong internship program which provides the graduate with direct experience in the development and management of human resource skills in a real work environment. These internships are designed to match the background and work interests of the students. The degree allows for a wide range of potential employment and accommodation to a diverse education and professional experience. For more information please visit careercenter.tamu.edu.
